Stepping Up to the Plate

Robert Hardies, Senior Minister

Okay, I'll admit it. I'm responsible for the baseball-themed slogan for this year's pledge drive—Stepping Up to the Plate.

David Ortiz's great clutch hitting for the Red Sox this year was one inspiration. Whenever they needed a vital hit, Ortiz stepped up and delivered.

The inspiration comes from this church, too. In our 184-year history, All Souls has consistently stepped up for justice and progressive religion. In 1859 members risked public censure by ringing the church bell for abolition. In 1921, when an older building no longer sufficed, they risked financial security to build this magnificent church. In 1954, when the Police Boys Club refused to integrate, All Souls started the city's first racially-integrated youth club.

All Souls Church has a history of clutch hits. This year we're being asked to step up again.

The recent growth of the church is a testament to how many people yearn for the message that this church offers. We rejoice that more and more people are discovering All Souls.

However, growth strains our staff, building and volunteers. In order to serve current and new members, we need to provide greater financial support for social justice, children's religious education, better volunteer coordination, and multicultural programming.

These are our priorities, and they deserve generous support. Join us for Generosity Sunday on Oct. 23, and share a generous pledge with your church community to support our important work together.

Love,

Getting Involved at All Souls Through Small Groups ...

Shana Goodwin, Associate Minister

One of my hopes for this church year is that every member will take advantage of a small group ministry, whether it is a Roots & Wings class, an spiritual development class, a covenant group, or a special event. One of the things I say at each newcomer introduction is that we want All Souls to be a place of significance and transformation in members' lives. The deeper your connections are here; the more powerful the possibilities of growth and meaning and purpose.

Since we never seem to have enough covenant group openings, I will be offering a training to lead a six-week course entitled

Evensong on Wed., Oct. 19 at 7 p.m. Evensong leads participants through worship and sharing on many different topics.

I have offered it several times here and always found it moving and inspiring. Call me to sign up.

With faith in community,

Generosity Starts at Home

Where does your generosity to All Souls actually go? All Souls finds itself facing a problem these days---coping with growth. At first glance, that may seem like no problem at all. Truth is, though, when a church grows to a certain point, its resources get tapped thin and those things that were responsible for growth in the first place are put at risk. That's where we are now.

So this year's Generosity Campaign is all about 'stepping up to the plate' to secure 'The Seven Sacred Virtues of All Souls'—Seven key ways All Souls has stepped up for our values:

Securing Our History: We have been the social justice soul of the nation's Capital starting before the Civil War, when All Souls was the city's 'official' bell, and tolled on momentous occasions.

Securing Social Justice: How often have you said 'Thank goodness my church implements programs embodying social justice?'

Securing Our Children: When we added Gabrielle as our Minister of Religious Education, it was a bet on the future of our kids. Now, with more children, we need more RE staff.

Securing Our Welcome as a diverse Congregation: To be an intentional multiracial, multicultural community, we need to publicize our hospitality and devote staff resources to new members.

Securing Our Worship: The inspiration of musical offerings on Sunday, the sustenance of covenant groups, and ministry to small groups all require staffing, which must grow as our numbers do.

Securing Our Caring: The needs for pastoral care multiply, as do the people in the pews.

Securing Our Lay Leadership: As there are more people volunteering, the need for organization, coordination and staff oversight becomes more critical.

Don't you think it's time for us to step up for All Souls?

Racial Justice Training Workshop: Oct. 7-9

All Souls will sponsor a Journey Toward Wholeness training session starting at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, October 7, and concluding in the late afternoon of Sunday, October 9.

The program, called Jubilee 2, was developed by the UU Association and designed to encourage a deeper understanding of the systemic operation of racism in America at the personal, institutional, and cultural levels. We are privileged to have three professional UUA facilitators coming to help us on this journey.

Registration is $40, which for all meals and training materials. Scholarships are available. For information and registration, visit the ADORE table after church in Pierce Hall, contact Jim Armstrong, (202) 723-4450, Jacycle@principle2.org, or Lynn Bulger, lynnbulger@earthlink.net.

New Charter School Partners with ASC

We are embarking on a pilot partnership with the Stokes School as an experiment in relationship, thinking about how we can have a mutually beneficial tie that works towards social justice. There could have been many fine options, but we needed to start with one to see how the relationship building might work, so we chose one that was primarily low income families of color.

The Stokes School draws families from this neighborhood (60 percent) and beyond, is primarily Latino and Black, and more than 90 percent of the students qualify for the free meals program for lowest income families. Established in 1998, the school prepares 250 culturally diverse kindergarten to sixth grade children to be leaders, scholars and citizens who are committed to social justice, all studying in English/Spanish or English/French.

- (1). Volunteers are needed for the after school (M-F 4 to 6) classes and clubs, and tutoring/homework help, which range across a variety of areas. You would choose which day(s) you are available. There is also a Saturday Academy. Call Clarence Bell-Alston, at 202-265-7237 ext. 107 to inquire about volunteering, and say you are from ASC.
- (2) The Stokes School will participate in our Thanksgiving Collection of non-perishable food for families, and look at hunger issues in the neighborhood, developing their own activities on the Friday/Saturday before Nov. 20.
- (3) We are also creating a list of All Souls congregants who are able to go to the school to speak to students or faculty. If you are interested in this, let me know at lgreen@allsouls.ws or 202-332-5266 x114 at the church.

Town Hall on Multicultural Growth

Please join members of the Board of Trustees and the Executive Team on Oct. 16 at 12:45 pm to discuss the All Souls Policy for Intentional Multicultural Growth. In furtherance of End Statement #2: All Souls is an ever-more diverse Congregation overcoming the barriers that divide the human family. See the September newsletter article for a copy of the policy and its history. On October 16, we will discuss the policy and our plans to implement it. Come share your thoughts and ideas.

Walk Around the White House

At 1 p.m., on Sunday, October 9, in Lafayette Park, please join members of the All Souls Buddhist Covenant Group, the Washington Buddhist Peace Fellowship and others on a silent, interfaith, reflective walk for peace in our hearts in Washington, DC, in Iraq and in the world. Meet at 1 p.m. on Sunday, October 9th, in the center of Lafayette Park (across from the White House) by the statue of Andrew Jackson on a horse. The walk begins with short readings from different faith traditions and then a silent, meditative walk of about an hour around the White House. No signs or banners are needed. Hugh Byrne, who conducts meditation sessions at All Souls, leads the walk. Questions? Contact the Washington Buddhist Peace Fellowship at www.wbpf.org or All Souls Buddhist Covenant Group at lensworth@verizon.net.

This conference will bring together people from All Souls and other UU churches across the JPD who are working to make our congregations "houses where racial justice lives." This conference is aimed at creating a racial justice movement.

The Rev. David Billings of the New Orleans-based People's Institute for Survival and Beyond will be the keynote presenter. Registration for the workshop is $20 for members of Full Fair Share Congregations such as All Souls, and includes coffee, lunch and optional dinner.

Interracial Family Circle MLK Jr. Event

Washington D.C.'s Interracial Family Circle is holding their birthday party here on Martin Luther King day and we are looking for folks to host and offer radical hospitality to these visiting families. Additionally, we are looking at the possibility of add-on programming geared to the specifics of the day. If interested in either of these, please contact Gabrielle Farrell at 202.332.5266 or email at gfarrell@allsouls.ws.

Black History Gallery: February 2006

It's not too early to become involved in this exciting project sponsored by MOMIE's TLC (Mentors in Minorities Education's Total Learning Cis-tem) and Aiyaze Sabeteur (he preached here on Aug 11). Held in the Youth Club the third week of February, this interactive event is dedicated to teaching children from area schools the history of African Americans. Work alongside Howard and American University students creating and developing displays. For more information on the specifics of the Gallery, visit their website www.momiestlc.com. If interested in becoming involved, and I strongly encourage such, give Gabrielle Farrell a call at 202.332.5266 or e-mail me at gfarrell@allsouls.ws.

RE Parent Open House Scheduled

Right after church on Oct. 2 in the Chapel in the Lower Level, there will be an open house for parents, with free lunch provided! Find out about the new social justice opportunities for your children and yourself; find out what you need to know to heighten your child's interest in Sunday mornings at All Souls and meet your church neighbors at a low-key event. Childcare will be available.

Image Expert Needed

The Children's Worship/Curriculum team needs someone experienced at creating projectile images to be used during Children's Chapel. Possibilities are probably more numerous than we know, but do you? Contact Gabrielle Farrell at gfarrell@allsouls.ws or Kathy Ferger @dcstreet@smart.net if you can help.

Breakfast Raises Katrina Relief Funds

The Middle School class, fortunately not all 27 of them and their 6 teachers, dutifully instructed by Buddy Adams and Ernie Cormier, requested donations at the September 18th RE Family Pancake Breakfast held in the Dining Room before church. They cooked and cleaned and then decided where the money should be directed.

Kathy Ferger, Children's Chapel leader, met with the class to speak about different options of where the money could go. The class donated the money to Mary Welch and her nephew, Nolan, a New Orleans family now relocated to San Diego. Additionally her niece, Dollinder Valcius from Winsboro, LA and one of her daughters are temporarily relocated to the DC area, but are looking to return to New Orleans because of the cost of housing here.

Welch's biggest concern is finding a stable place to stay until she can move back to New Orleans; she doesn't yet know what condition her home is in, but she knows even if she gets a waiver on her house note, all the missed payments will come due within six months. One of Mary's brothers, Parnell, is currently in San Diego. Her other brother Nelson Herbert remains in San Antonio. The class is writing a note to accompany their donation.

Ordination for Reverend Manish Mishra

Oct. 16 will be a happy day for our church, when All Souls member Manish Mishra will be ordained to the Unitarian Universalist Ministry. Since Manish has had significant relationships with other UU churches, including his current base in Westport, Connecticut, we are honored that he has chosen All Souls to host this celebration.

Manish comes to ministry by way of a career as a former U.S. diplomat during the Clinton Administration. He left the diplomatic service in 2001 to begin Master of Divinity studies at Harvard University.

As a lay leader, Manish was a member of our Board of Trustees. In preparation for the ministry he served UU communities in Greenfield, Mass., Arlington, Va., and Marblehead, Mass., as well as Children's National Medical Center in Washington D.C. as a hospital Chaplain.

He is currently Interim Associate Minister at the Unitarian Church in Westport, Conn. One of our denominational leaders, Manish is a member of the UUA Commission on Appraisal, the Board of Skinner House Books, and Chair of the UU Asian/Pacific Islander Caucus.

The ordination service itself will take place at 4 p.m. on Sunday, October 16, followed by a reception in Pierce Hall. All are invited, and encouraged, to attend.

Ethical Dialog for October 2005

Oct 2: 'Right Relations' in Our Neighborhood

12,000 affordable housing units were lost in DC last year. Progress embraces gentrification, but at what cost?

Oct 9: Jails—Stepchild of the Criminal Justice System

Ken Kerle, with a career in studying and writing about jails, will introduce this topic and the questions surrounding its history in the U.S. and its role in the justice system.

Oct 16: Does the "Help America Vote Act" Help?

HAVA (the Help America Vote Act) requires each state to explain how it will comply with a new set of election requirements. Will these actually "help Americans vote"?

Oct 23: Jefferson and the Covenant of Right Relations

The working draft of a Covenant is being considered, but how do its lofty ideals help us in today's church?

Oct 30            Open Discussion

KUUMBA Players' New Season

After a full season last church year and the rousing success of "The Stream" at General Assembly (see the current UU World) we are anticipating a new season full of exciting projects with something for everyone. As a result of the response to last year's workshops, Gregory Ford will lead weekly sessions of Playback Theater, a participatory form that leads to greater spiritual awareness. The sessions will be held each Wednesday in the Longfellow Room beginning September 21.

Elizabeth Andrews has returned to us from New York and will lead a series of workshop experiences for children with interest in theater. Ben Zitelli, the cockroach in "Save the Humans" and the director of "Rope", will shepherd us through at least two "Beyond Soundbytes", which uses speeches and documents of the past and reinterprets them in light of today's issues. There are lots of opportunities for participation. We welcome volunteers as individual participants or groups as we promote social justice through performance. Last year the Seventh Principle Committee was our partner in "Save the Humans," and we raised more than $1,700 for the National 7th Principle Project. Watch for announcements of events and check out our website!

Book Discussion Group

The next meeting of the Book Discussion Group will be at 4 p.m. on Oct. 16 (the third Sunday, a departure from the usual) at 3251 Sutton Pl NW, Apt D. The book is The Poisonwood Bible by Barbara Kingsolver. This is our auction event, so bring a dish to share. We will discuss at 4 p.m. and eat at 5:30 p.m. Questions? Contact Rose Kurland at 202-243-3184; rbkurland@aol.com.

Let's Go Green!

On Oct. 2 from 12:45 p.m. - 2 p.m. there will be a coaching session for ASC committee leaders, volunteers and interested members. If you are planning an event, meal, or other activity – learn how you can be a model of environmental stewardship and have FUN doing it! ASC's Zero Trash Queen Lina Parikh and Seventh P's chair Pam Sparr will facilitate. This is not to be missed!

Long-Range Planning Task Force

The purpose of this task force is to gather information and explore the critical issues associated with All Souls current and likely continued growth over the next ten years. Our final report with recommendations will be presented to the Board of Trustees and the Executive Team by the end of October and then to the full congregation at the December Annual Meeting.

In the several meetings we have held so far, a number of issues that result from our growth have commanded our attention. Our current list includes:

- The pros and cons of having two Sunday services
- Whether and how to be proactive in encouraging and recruiting new members, particularly to ensure that our congregation is ever-more diverse
- What improvements does the church building require in order to handle our growth, prominently including for religious education.
- How can we ensure that every member gets adequate support in finding the right niche for him/her?
- Do we have/will we have enough volunteers from the church's membership to effectively manage the church and carry out our ambitious goals?
- Assuming that we will need a capital campaign sometime in the relative near future, how much money are we likely to be able to raise from the congregation and other sources?

We know that other issues will emerge in our final report, but this gives you some idea of our scope. Please feel free to contact any member of the task force which is chaired by Tom Fox and Barbara Corprew and includes Senior Minister Rob Hardies, Trustees Ernie Cormier and Dave Kerlina, Jan Albert, Judith Bauer, Van Caldwell, Lina Parikh, Stan Salett, Marian Urquilla, and Lloyd Wright.

Energy Rekindled ...

Come to "Energy Rekindled," a fall gathering facilitated by UUSJ, on Oct. 29 at Cedar Lane Church in Bethesda. Hear an inspirational sermon at 11 a.m., then stay for lunch and attend workshops at 1 p.m. To register, go to www.uusj.org; csnavely@uusj.org; 410-588-1951.

Reflecting on Katrina ...

by Pamela Sparr, Chair, Seventh Principle Cmte.

The tragedy that has befallen the people in Mississippi and Louisiana as a result of Hurricane Katrina has stirred anger and compassion in many of us. There are so many dimensions of the problems faced by residents rebuilding their lives and their communities. Among the racial, economic and environmental justice factors needing addressing, there is one way our church life directly and practically connects with some of the challenges they face.

Do you ever stop to think about the consequences of the plastic forks, knives, plates, or Styrofoam cups we use at a church meal? As we mourn the loss of life and destruction of communities, it is important for us to bear in mind that a significant portion of the toxic soup folks are dealing with is the result of byproducts of the petrol-chemical industries in that area. Our committee has long urged ASC to reduce our use of disposables because of our concern for racial, economic and environmental justice. Certainly after Katrina, we urge us all to redouble our efforts, and help make Zero Trash an institutional reality every day.

Volunteer for one Zero Trash Sunday. Write lparikh@yahoo.com to sign up. Consider making your event a Zero Trash event. Come to our coaching session after church on October 2 to learn how. This is a simple way you can honor some of the people who have borne the cost of our "throw away" society. This is a way you can create demand for greener products and healthier lives for everyone.

Minority Scholarship Fundraiser

On November 5 at 7:15 p.m., River Road Unitarian Church welcomes Pin Points Theatre for a performance of 1001 Black Inventions, an educational comedy for all ages, now in its 16th season. This play features the lives of African and African American inventors, showing the audience how their genius impacts all of us! Since 1990, RRUC's Minority Scholarship Fund has provided college scholarships to minority students. Doors open at 7 p.m., performance begins at 7:15 p.m. Reception to follow. Child care provided. $25 adult, $10 youth, $60 family. Shirley Caminer (301) 871-8066.

Quilting Committee Meets Again

The Quilting Committee is meeting again, after summer “vacation.” Once again, we will be quilting in the Longfellow Room at ASC, on the 2nd and 4th Saturdays of each month, from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00p.m. Remember, you do not have to know how to quilt to participate. You can simply sew as directed and enjoy the companionship of a very nice group of folks. Come once or come more often. All are welcome. For further info., contact Kathie Shahan @202-483-8284 or Kathie.Shahan@USdoj.gov or Rose Kurland @ 202-243-3184 or Rbkurland@aol.com .

The Covenant of Right Relations

by Gloria Hodgdon

Like most of my fellow congregants, I believe myself to be a gentle, loving and independent thinking Unitarian. As a member of the Committee Ministry, I am involved in the current effort to encourage a church-wide dialogue on the proposed Covenant of Right Relations.

Our church community has affirmed its Mission and Ends Statements and its Seven Principles. In doing so, we aspire to certain value-laden goals. The proposed Covenant on Right Relations can provide a roadmap for us. If you put the covenant alongside the Mission and Ends Statements and the Seven Principles, there are no deviations. With examples provided by the congregation, the covenant says...this is how we can do that.

But considering how we get to an attainment of our goals does not mean a lost of individuality nor does it mean that individuals are put on “trial.” Rather, it places our individualities within the context of the community. And it provides the glue to keep that community together.

Some feedback has suggested that the covenant is just a piece of paper; and it does not address the spiritual experience many seek in their affiliation with ASC. Well, if we read it and set it aside, it IS just words on a piece of paper. Let’s not forget, however, that our spirituality rises out of the values we hold, values confirmed by our Mission and Ends Statements and the covenant. We are hoping that you will take some time now to engage with it and, as you do so, will consider sharing your thoughts with us.

All Souls Unitarian Church Services

Services begin at 10:50 a.m.

October 2 • Choose to Bless the World • Rev. Hardies

No matter how large our sphere of influence, each of us contribute something to the world. The question that remains is whether what we contribute to the world is a blessing or a curse. Learn how to be a blessing this Sunday

October 9 • The Difference That Difference Makes • Rev. Goodwin

As Hurricane Katrina has reminded us, in spite of our “melting pot” national image, race still matters. As we strive to be an “evermore diverse” congregation how do we see and talk about the differences between us?

October 16 • Reconciliation • Revs. Hardies & Goodwin

Yom Kippur is the Jewish Day of Atonement, when people are asked to repent of their sins and seek out those with whom they must reconcile. Today, Revs. Hardies and Goodwin will explore the spiritual discipline of reconciliation through the lens of race in America.

October 23 • Stepping Up • Rev. Hardies • Generosity Sunday

Generosity Sunday is the day we make our financial pledge to All Souls. This year, we will outline the challenges facing our church and nation, and what it will take for us to step up to this challenge. Stay for a free, catered lunch.

October 30 • What All Souls Means to Me Now • Rev. Hardies

Several years ago I preached a sermon about the theological meaning of our church name, All Souls. Like any good symbol, though, the more you sit with it, the deeper it makes its way into your soul. This Sunday will be about the deeper meanings in this symbol that is so central to our faith.

MISSION & ENDS STATEMENTS

Mission Statement of All Souls Church

To create a diverse, spirit-growing, justice-seeking community that transforms ourselves and our world into one great family of all souls.
