

Let there be an offering to sustain and strengthen this place which is sacred to so many of us, a community of memory and of hope, for we are now the keepers of the dream.

Brandoch L. Lovely

In the Unitarian Universalist tradition, the members of a church own the building and everything in it and are responsible for providing financial support for all the operations and programs of the congregation.

So how do we—as an All Souls generation early in the 21st century—use our resources in a way that honors our 190-year old past and secures our future?

Every fall, our Annual Generosity Campaign calls us to commit our personal resources to the ongoing work of this church:

- Sunday worship—music, sermons, and education that stirs and nourishes our souls;
- social justice programs such as voting rights work in North Carolina, raising awareness of the implications of climate change, helping re-build the Lower 9th in New Orleans, and fair housing and immigrant rights in our own city;
- welcoming the congregation and community into our beautiful renovated building;
- employing a chief program officer to align our programs with our mission;
- staff that enables the work of the church, and the maintenance of our church home.

Our annual budget also includes support of the national and regional (Joseph Priestley District) UU offices, which provide important vision and programmatic and administrative support to all member churches.

We are also now midway through a capital campaign to renovate our building. If you haven't had an opportunity to give to the campaign, please contact Executive Director Katie Loughary (kloughary@allsouls.ws; 202-517-1463) to join in this legacy to future generations.

2015 Pledge Card

All contributions to All Souls Church Unitarian are tax-deductible.
You can also give at www.all-souls.org/giving-2015.

How much does this church mean to you? The per-member cost of running this church for a year is approx. $2,000. We ask you to increase your pledge by 5%, 10%, or more over your 2014 pledge. The more we give, the more we can do as a visionary congregation in the nation's capital!
